

TRANSFICTION, 2015

TRANSFICTION is transformation and fiction, but still close to reality. Our world is turning faster and faster, we are living life in the fast lane, often finding it hard to catch up. We are getting lost in a maze of desires, dreams and fantasies, rarely are we able to maintain long-term relationships or continuity in our lives, tumbling into a century marked by technological progress and emotional withdrawal.

We are changing, yet remaining ourselves. Memories and visions are melting into one. We are moving on and at the same time persisting in our views. While dreaming, we also dread the reality of our dreams. We're in hiding, hoping to be found. We're trying to keep track of ourselves, fighting our innermost feelings while remaining true to ourselves.

Whatever effect these constantly evolving times may have on us, TRANSFICTION shows the many facets of them.

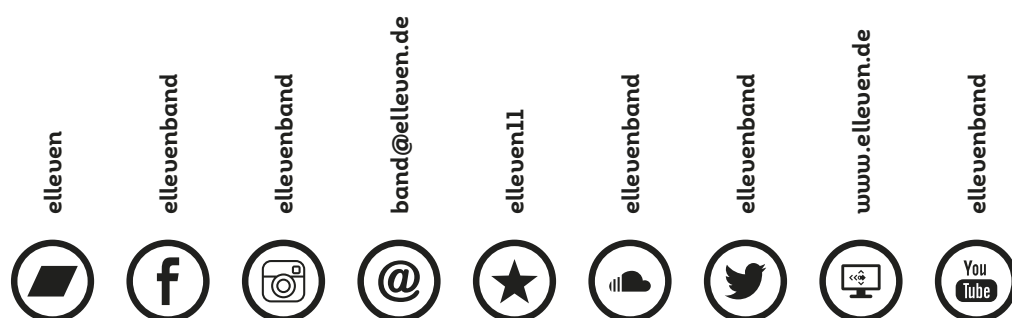

TRANSFICTION was recorded at Lohhof/Neuss and Weil der Stadt, it was also mixed and mastered at Lohhof.

Elleven's second album TRANSFICTION has been released in October 2015 under the license of Progressive Promotion Records (PPRCD034).

THE BAND

In 2001 two former members of Chandelier, Tom Jarzina (drums) and Stephan Scholz (bass, guitar) helped vocalist Julia Graff to take her first steps with ELLEVEN. Soon after keyboard player Armin Riemer joined them. Unfortunately, Stephan Scholz was forced to leave the band due to job commitments.

In 2007 their first CD Insight was released and at once one track (All Alone) found its way onto a CD compiled by the renowned German magazine Eclipsed. The atmospheric rocking progressive pop of ELLEVEN was well received both in Germany and in Europe. The live set was well rehearsed, but in 2009 the band had to reform, since not only Tom Jarzina, but also Julia Graff moved to the south of Germany.

BANDINFO 2015

At that time the band was already in the middle of writing new material for a second CD. Although the band had quite clear ideas about the new songs, the new lineup still had to shape their sound.

Despite this radical change ELLEVEN was continued with vocalist Julia Graff working from the south of Germany and new drummer, Herry Rubarth, again a former member of Chandelier. A new album aims to do justice to the various metamorphoses that the band went through in the last years.
